A native of Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, Mark Himmelman began playing the organ at the young age of seven years and by age eight had played his first church service. At age eleven Mark began studies in piano and organ under David Zwicker. His teachers have also included Allen Wayte, F. Alan Ressor and John Vandertuin. Mark holds a bachelors degree in music performance from the University of Prince Edward Island. Subsequent studies in organ have included the Mount Royal International and the McGill Summer Organ Academies where he performed and studied under Simon Preston, David Higgs, Sara Buldock, Neil Cockburn, William Porter and Oliver Latory. Mark has held several positions as organist in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Ontario, and is currently Organist and Director of Music at St. George's Anglican Church in Owen Sound, Ontario. As a composer Mark has over 30 compositions to his credit which he publishes under his own label "M.D. H. Publications". As a performing artist Mark has concretized throughout Canada and the United States and in 2006 he released his first compact disc entitled "Enigma".
